

NO ON SB 18

The Facts

Senate Bill 18 (SB 18) proposes that the government should have the authority to intervene between parents and children if your parenting style and family life are not in compliance with their "researched-based essential needs" of children.

Bill author, Dr. Richard Pan claims that the intent of SB 18 is to protect children's rights, however, it is a forceful invitation of the government's unrestrained authority into your home and a violation of parental rights.

HOW?

SB 18 has the potential to:

- Take away your ability to parent your children according to your values
- Allow the government to dictate when and how you teach your children about sexuality and other sensitive topics
- Allow the government to mandate and/or ban certain foods and beverages
- Allow the government to deem your home unsafe if you own a firearm
- Grant the government full authority over medical decisions regarding your children's health
- Affect your choice to in home educate or use private schools
- Inhibit your freedom to teach your children according to your morals and religious beliefs
- Put the government in charge of your children's social lives
